Synopsis Reported here are the first estimates of the standard reduction potential of the $O_2 + 4e^- + 4H^+ \rightleftharpoons 2H_2O$ couple in organic solvents, namely, acetonitrile and N,N-dimethylformamide. ...

Computational chemistry is a branch of chemistry that uses computer simulation to assist in solving chemical problems. It uses methods of theoretical chemistry, incorporated into efficient computer programs, to calculate the structures and properties of molecules and solids. It is necessary because, apart from relatively recent results concerning the hydrogen molecular ion (dihydrogen cation ...

Scientific studies on photocatalysis started about two and a half decades ago. Titanium dioxide (TiO₂), which is one of the most basic materials in our daily life, has emerged as an excellent photocatalyst material for environmental purification. In this review, current progress in the area of TiO₂ photocatalysis, mainly photocatalytic air purification, sterilization and cancer therapy are ...

Supramolecular chemistry is the domain of chemistry concerning chemical systems composed of a discrete number of molecules. The strength of the forces responsible for spatial organization of the system range from weak intermolecular forces, electrostatic charge, or hydrogen bonding to strong covalent bonding, provided that the electronic coupling strength remains small relative to the energy ...

Welcome to the first national meeting of the Swedish Chemical Society! The meeting brings together more than 450 persons from all directions of chemistry represented within the society and offers a program of top plenary lectures, exciting specialized parallel sessions and plenty of room for interactions with meeting participants and exhibitors between scientific sessions.
