The bow is braced by putting a string shorter than the bow between the tips of the limbs. We distinguish between three different types of bows on the ground of the interplay between string and limbs. For bows of the first type, the non-recurve bows, the limbs have contact with the string only at their tips.

Analysis. According to Paz, poetry is a use of language poised between tension (the taut string of a bow) and resolution (the strings of a lyre, the ancient symbol of Apollo as guardian of the Muses). This is not to imply that for Paz the best poetry is that which is most agreeable to the reader; rather, he is convinced that the poet's job...

It is what unites the strength of the bow with the centre of the target. The intention must be crystal-clear, straight and balanced. Once the arrow has gone, it will not come back, so it is better to interrupt a shot, because the movements that led up to it were not sufficiently precise and correct, than to act carelessly, simply because the bow was fully drawn and the target was waiting.
